

Social Media Marketing

What is Social Media Marketing (SMM)?

Social media marketing facilitates a two-way stream of communication between brands and consumers.

In the past, two-way streams of communication were limited to sales force, customer service call centers, & in-store interactions.

But social media interactions are on public record.

Question: Which types of mistakes could your social media managers and employees make?

Role of Social Media Policies & Training

Social media policies & employees training will help:

- Outline how an organization and its employees should conduct themselves on social media

Key components of social media policies

Who can speak for your company

Addressing customer complaints

PR inquiries

Stock and investor relations

Copyright infringement

Do's and don'ts for personal contact

How to address conflict situations

Sample guidelines: Coca-Cola

Get in-house Social Media Certification

Fully disclose affiliation with company

Keep records

When in doubt, don't post

Don't plagiarize

Be responsible

Be aware that posts may be permanent, and spread worldwide

Sample guidelines: Volvo

Be personal without getting private
Be open, link, and refer to other blog
comments

Do not reveal business secrets

Treat competitors with respect

Do not comment on legal issues

The Volvo logo, consisting of the word "VOLVO" in a bold, blue, sans-serif font, oriented vertically.

Sample guidelines: BBC

- Store in secure location

- Share with team members

Social media accounts should look and feel consistent

Best Social Media Etiquettes

- Listen
- Give value

Don'ts:

- Sales spam
- Show impatience
- Pretend to be something you're not

Example: Be Authentic & Transparent

Eddie Okubo Interesting design. I would get this car in a heartbeat. I may be the older crowd with my kids out of the house and still need some space and performance. Don't need anything big.

Use social media to provide customer service

According to J.D. Power, 67% of consumers have used a company's social media channel for customer service.

And when they do, they expect a fast response. Research cited by Jay Baer tells us that 42% of consumers expect a response with 60 minutes.

Don't rely too much on automation!

Step 4: Avoid Common Mistakes

Social Marketing Risks

Users are not looking for marketing messages

Messaging needs to be highly relevant or entertaining

High-maintenance

Advertisers need to dedicate time and resources to monitoring sites and conversations

(A)symmetry in social media

Symmetry: allows regular people to interact with powerful brands & public figures

Asymmetry: only the powerful (e.g. brands) bear the consequences for bad behavior

(Loss of) Control

Social media marketing is scary!

- Advertisers cannot control content

 - Open to user comments, criticisms, ridicule

 - Users don't want to be edited or controlled, will reject brands that do so

But, you are still the brand manager. You need to stay in control of what the brand/company says

Remember: Consumers talk about your brand whether or not you engage them

Visual images usually consist of, but are not limited to, photos, infographics, animated gifs, and illustrations.

You can share more than a single photo in many cases. For example, on Facebook and Instagram, you can create galleries and use photo carousels. Twitter also allows for multiple photo uploads per post.

Content Type: Animated Gifs

Buzzfeed doesn't sell products or services like most businesses, so it doesn't have any new products to launch or any services to show off in a live video. Instead, they make money through advertising and specialize in getting attention with content.

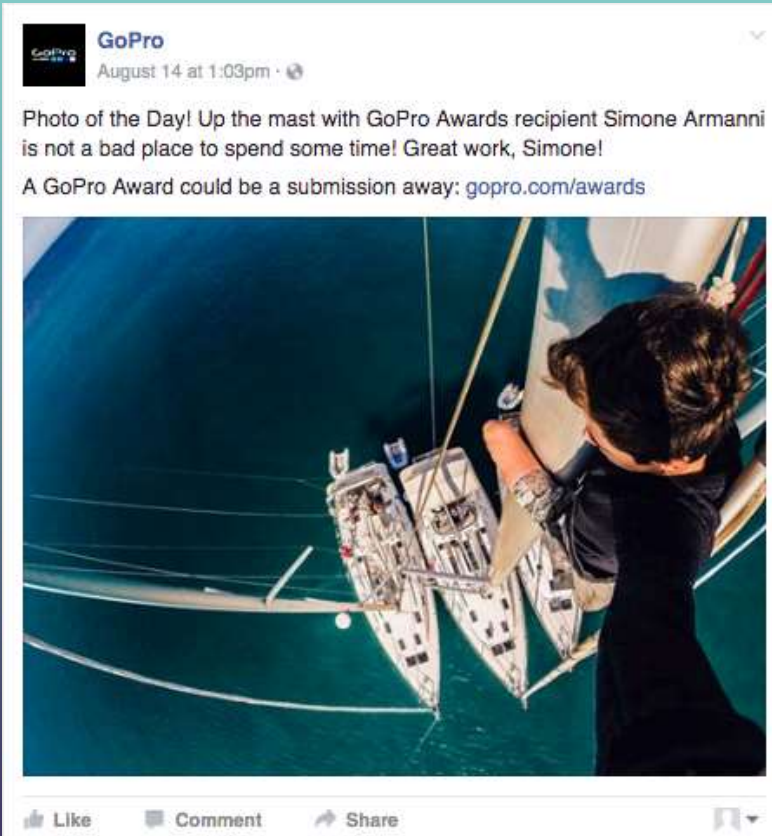

Content Type (by others): Influencers

You can find influencers including working with companies such as FanBase, TapInfluence, Influenz, Speakr, or Hypefactory who will book individuals to develop or share your material.

You can also build relationships with budding influencers who are creating amazing content and can help you stand out among the crowd.

Content type (by others): User-generated content

UGC is content such as blog posts, tweets, posts, videos, images, or reviews developed by a fan of your company or your products and shared on a social channel.

According to Nielsen, "92 percent of consumers around the world say they trust earned media, such as word-of-mouth and recommendations from friends and family, above all other forms of advertising."

Content type (by others): User-generated content

Firms can influence the creation of UGC by offering rewards, contests or giveaways, (e.g., a photo or design contest). Or, create a quiz and have people share their results. And finally, you can get creative with hashtags (e.g., Starbucks' #RedCupArt Campaign)

Research what content performed the best on which channel based on historical data

Regression analysis is a statistical process for estimating the relationships among variables. What is the relationship between X and Y?

Use regression to identify the top performing posts for each channel.

Y: # comments, # shares, # likes.

X: indicator of each type of content

Caution: insights obtained from one platform might not apply to other platforms!

For example, you may find...

Facebook: Number of Hashtags vs. Average Engagement Per Post

Twitter: Number of Hashtags vs. Average Engagement Per Post

Instagram: Number of Hashtags vs. Average Engagement Per Post

Avoid using too many Hashtags; Instagram seems most # friendly

Use Tagging (@) Carefully

Use Active Language:

- Download
- Like
- Buy
- Register
- Subscribe
- Donate
- Share
- Comment
- Secure
- Watch

Be Time Sensitive:

- "TODAY ONLY"
- "ENDS AT MIDNIGHT"
- "FOR THE NEXT 24 HOURS"

Tagging your posts can also be beneficial to help you extend your reach if your content is in conjunction with a partner, customer, or another brand.

Asking for permission when tagging private individuals

Tagging are mostly beneficial on Facebook, Instagram and Twitter.

How to leverage influencer marketing?

User-generated content

Influencer marketing is about building trust

Who are influencers: someone whose opinions are trusted by those that follow them

Could be a celebrity, a blogger, a sport personality, even a pet or fictional character (e.g., Kellogg's Tony the Tiger)!

Influencer marketing: when brands utilize influencers to promote their product

Back to 1890

The Davis Milling Company was one of the first companies - if not THE first company - to introduce an influencer into their marketing efforts. This influencer was called Aunt Jemima, a jovial woman with a big grin who appeared on all their packaging and advertisements, even to this day.

To further personify their brand, they brought in Ms. Nancy Green to act as a real-life Aunt Jemima for the company. Ms. Green continued to play this role for over 30 years, until her death in 1923. There have since been a string of different women hired to portray the now well-loved character, with the last making appearances as late as the 1960's.
